

Figures

2.1	Percentage of total population living in urban areas in relation to the logarithm of GDP per capita by individual country, for the years 1960, 1985, and 2010	18
4.1	A schematic representation of the emerging mosaic of global city-regions	61
5.1	The 75 Worldwide Centers of Commerce as defined by MasterCard Worldwide (2008)	67
5.2	Schematic representation of an urban production system with connections to satellite production locations and five external markets	70
5.3	Major industrial districts in the Greater Los Angeles Area	71
5.4	Motion-picture production companies in Southern California	72
6.1	Human capital and work content indexes by metropolitan size class (2000)	89
7.1	Symbolic analysts: correlogram for indexes of representation	107
7.2	Service underclass occupations: correlogram for indexes of representation	108
8.1	Los Angeles and Orange Counties: residential distribution of workers in management occupations; business and financial operations occupations; computer and mathematical occupations; architecture and engineering occupations; life, physical, and social science occupations; legal occupations; arts, design, entertainment, sports, and media occupations; and healthcare practitioner and technical occupations	129
8.2	Los Angeles and Orange Counties: residential distribution of workers in food preparation and serving related occupations; building and grounds cleaning and maintenance occupations; and personal care and service occupations	130
8.3	Los Angeles and Orange Counties: residential distribution of workers in production worker occupations	131
8.4	City of Paris: ratio of residents in production worker occupations to residents in executive and professional occupations, by arrondissement (1999)	138

8.5	City of Paris: ratio of residents in production worker occupations to residents in executive and professional occupations, by arrondissement (2008)	139
A8.1	Land rent as a function of distance from the city center	144
9.1	Some structural elements of a diffuse rural assemblage in the cognitive–cultural economy	148
9.2	Cumbria and the Lake District, with principal urban settlements	154
10.1	Federal grants-in-aid to local governments in the United States (1975–2010)	168