

Tables

1.1	The largest 45 urban agglomerations in the world (2007)	13
3.1	Employment in selected professional occupations in the United States (2000–2010)	38
3.2	Employment in selected low-wage service occupations in the United States (2000–2010)	39
3.3	Median annual wages/salaries of workers in professional, production, and low-wage service occupations (2000–2010)	40
6.1	Labor force participation in selected industries in US metropolitan areas (2000)	80
6.2	Average values of human capital variables across all metropolitan areas (1980–2000)	84
6.3	Simple correlation coefficients between human capital measures (1980, 1990, and 2000)	85
6.4	Average values of human capital variables by metropolitan size category	86
A6.1	Rankings of occupational tasks in relation to DATA, PEOPLE, and THINGS	92
7.1	Selected symbolic analyst occupations – employment for 283 US metropolitan areas	98
7.2	Selected service underclass occupations – employment for 283 US metropolitan areas	102
7.3	Employment in symbolic analyst and service underclass occupations in the US metropolitan hierarchy (2000 and 2010)	104
7.4	Symbolic analysts: ten top-scoring occupations on indexes of representation for levels 1 and 5 of the US metropolitan hierarchy (2000)	109
7.5	Service underclass occupations: ten top-scoring occupations on indexes of representation for levels 1 and 5 of the US metropolitan hierarchy (2000)	110
7.6	Symbolic analysts: highly represented demographic groups, by occupation (2000)	112
7.7	Service underclass: highly represented demographic groups, by occupation (2000)	116

7.8	Symbolic analysts in the American metropolitan hierarchy: percentage incidence of workers by gender, race, ethnicity, and nativity (2000)	118
7.9	The service underclass in the American metropolitan hierarchy: percentage incidence of workers by gender, race, ethnicity, and nativity (2000)	119
8.1	Los Angeles–Long Beach Metropolitan Area, employment in selected occupational categories (2000–2010)	127
8.2	Percentage change in the number of individuals living in central cities or outside central cities by occupational category, US metropolitan areas (2000–2010)	136
8.3	Number of workers in selected occupational categories residing in the City of Paris (1999 and 2008)	137