Contributors

Carlo Altomonte is Associate Professor of Economics of European Integration at Bocconi University, Milan and Associate Senior Research Fellow at ISPI. He has held visiting programmes on Economics of European Integration, among others, at Panthéon-Sorbonne, NYU and Keio University (Tokyo). Involved in several research projects sponsored by the European institutions, he has published extensively in top journals in the field of international and industrial economics.

Franco Bruni is Professor of Economics at Bocconi University and Vice President of Milan’s Istituto per gli Studi di Politica Internazionale (ISPI). He is past-President of the Société Universitaire Européenne de Recherches Financières (SUERF), member of the European Shadow Financial Regulatory Committee and of EuropEos, an ongoing forum for the discussion of European policy and institutional issues. He is author of many publications in monetary economics and financial regulation.

Jacques Mistral is a Professor of Economics, Head of Economic Research at the Institut Français des Relations Internationales (IFRI); he served as Financial Counselor to the Embassy of France in the United States of America from 2001 to 2006. He recently published two books on the American economy, a report on reforming financial accounting and numerous articles on recent global and financial issues.

Francesco Passarelli is Associate Professor of Economics at the University of Teramo and at Bocconi University, Milan. Recently, he has published several studies on voting, collective choice and political economics, with special reference to the EU.

Vanessa Rossi is Senior Research Fellow in International Economics at Chatham House, London. She has extensive experience in international macroeconomic analysis and financial markets based on a career in academia, government service, banking and consultancy, and contributes regularly to publications, conferences and media events. She has co-authored a book on International Financial Markets and authored a chapter in the Chatham House publication The Gulf Region.

Daniela Schwarzer is Head of the EU integration division of the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP). She is co-founder and co-editor of the European Political Economy Review and of www.eurozonewatch.eu. Previously, she worked for the Financial Times Deutschland.

Carlo Secchi is Professor of European Economic Policy at Bocconi University in Milan, where he is Director of ISLA (Institute for Latin American Studies and Transition Economies). He is Chairman of the Italian Group of the Trilateral Commission and Vice President of ISPI. He has been a consultant to the Italian Government, the European Union and various research institutions worldwide. He has published extensively articles and books on international trade, economic integration and European economic policy.

Antonio Villafranca is Senior Research Fellow and Head of the European Programme at ISPI. He is lecturer on International Relations at the Bocconi University in Milan. He has published several articles and edited volumes on the European governance and EU policies.

Xiaozu Wang is a Professor at the School of Management of Fudan University in China. He has served as a consultant for the World Bank. He has also published numerous academic papers in economics and finance.

Fabian Zuleeg is Chief Economist at the European Policy Centre (EPC). He is an economist by training and at the EPC he is responsible for the political economy programme, which covers topics such as Europe’s economic future, EU health policy, Social Europe, the economic crisis and its long-term impacts, EMU, the EU budget and economic governance.