

Contributors

Atsuko Hayama is Associate Professor at the Faculty of Economics, Kurume University in Fukuoka, Japan. Her research interests are in the fields of rural development and forest economics in Asia, with special focus on the Philippines and Japan.

Misaki Iwai is Professor at the Department of Asian Languages, Kanda University of International Studies in Chiba, Japan. Her research interests are in the field of social transformation, migration, and the relationship between the state and society in rural Vietnam.

Ikuko Okamoto is Professor at the Faculty of Regional Development Studies, Toyo University in Tokyo, Japan. Her research interests are in agricultural and rural development, with special focus on Myanmar. She is the author of Economic Disparity in Rural Myanmar: Transformation under Market Liberalization (Singapore: National University of Singapore Press, 2008).

Shinichi Shigetomi is Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE), Japan External Trade Organization (JETRO). His research covers rural development, agricultural economics, and civil society in Asia, with special focus on Thailand. He edited Protest and Social Movements in the Developing World (Cheltenham, UK and Northampton, MA, USA: Edward Elgar, 2009).

Motoko Shimagami is Associate Professor, Six-University Initiative Japan Indonesia (SUIJI) Promotion Office, Ehime University in Ehime, Japan. Her research interests are in the fields of village autonomy, community-based resource management, and community organizations in Indonesia and Japan.

Akina Venkateswarlu is Senior Fellow of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), at the Centre for Economic and Social Studies, Hyderabad, India. His research interests are in the fields of agricultural economics, rural development, and political economy of development. He is the author of The Role of Village Panchayats and Village Development Councils in Rural Development (Delhi: Abhijeet Publications, 2012).

Nanae Yamada is Research Fellow of the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE), Japan External Trade Organization (JETRO). Her research interests are Chinese agriculture and rural economy issues, with special focus on resource management, institutions and organizations.