
Acknowledgements

Please find our words of appreciation for the following people who helped to create this book. First, we would like to thank the contributors to the chapters, without your thoughtful and innovative scholarship this book would not have been possible. We also want to thank the large pool of reviewers who helped us in the double-blind peer review of the chapters. In particular, we would like to thank Francine O'Sullivan, Publisher, Edward Elgar Publishing, for her guidance, support and patience during this project, Katherine McAlpine for her technical help and editing to get the draft manuscript ready for the publishers, and Karin Hougaard for her creative book cover design.

Further acknowledgements:

Lize – To Karin and Claris for your love, understanding, support and patience.

Regine – To all my female ancestors, especially to the spirit of my great-great-grandmother who lived in the forest in Eisenerz.

Judith – In memory of my Mum and Dad, thank you; the fields did open.
