Contributors

Vigjilenca Abazi is Assistant Professor of European Law at Maastricht University and Research Coordinator of the Centre for European Research in Maastricht. She was awarded a PhD by the University of Amsterdam and was a Fulbright Visiting Scholar at Columbia Law School. She works on secrecy, privacy and whistleblower protection in the European Union.

Mariusz Baran is Assistant Professor and Chair of Environmental Law at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków. He is a scholarship holder of the Minister of Science and Higher Education of the Republic of Poland for outstanding young scientists and is also a legal counsel.

Tanja A Börzel is Professor of Political Science and holds the Chair for European Integration at the Otto-Suhr-Institute for Political Science, Freie Universität Berlin. She is principal coordinator of the Research College, ‘The Transformative Power of Europe’, together with Thomas Risse, and of the H2020 Collaborative Project ‘The EU and Eastern Partnership Countries: An Inside-Out Analysis and Strategic Assessment’. She also directs the Jean Monnet Center of Excellence ‘Europe and its Citizens’.

Kieran Bradley was formerly President of the Second Chamber, EU Civil Service Tribunal, where he was a judge from 2011 until that Tribunal was abolished in August 2016. He previously worked for many years at the European Parliament, where he was appointed a Director in the Legal Service in early 2011. He was awarded a PhD under Special Regulations by the University of Cambridge in 2016.

Alex Brenninkmeijer is a Member of the European Court of Auditors and Professor at the Faculty of Law, Economics and Public Administration of Utrecht University. He previously was vice president of an administrative court of appeal and held the position of National Ombudsman in the Netherlands.

Giacinto della Cananea is Professor of Administrative Law at the University of Rome ‘Tor Vergata’. He is a founding member and member of the steering group of the ReNEUAL project on the codification of European Union administrative law, and has been awarded by the ERC an advanced grant for his research on ‘The common core of European administrative laws’. Amongst his many published works, he is the author of Due Process of Law Beyond the State. Requirements of Administrative Procedure (OUP 2016).

Edoardo Chiti is Professor of Administrative Law at the University of La Tuscia. His research interests include EU governance and more particularly EU agencies, on which he has published widely. He is currently working on the relations of the EU with international and global administrative law, as well as on the transformations of EU administration in the aftermath of the crisis.

Deirdre Curtin holds a Chair in Law at the European University Institute. She is a member of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences. She was previously Professor of European Law of the University of Amsterdam where she was founding director of the Amsterdam Centre for European Law and Governance (ACELG). She has written widely on transparency and secrecy in the EU, and is the author of Executive Power of the European Union (OUP 2009).

Helen Darbishire is the Founder and Executive Director of Access Info Europe, a non-governmental organization dedicated to promoting and protecting the right of access to information.

Michelle Everson is Professor of Law at Birkbeck College, University of London. Her particular interests are European regulatory law, European administrative and constitutional law and European citizenship, on which she has published widely.

Jonas Grimheden is Senior Policy Manager at the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights (FRA) and Docent at Lund University.

Elspeth Guild is Jean Monnet Professor ad personam at Radboud University, Nijmegen and Queen Mary University of London. She has worked and published extensively in the field of free movement of persons and asylum and acted as expert adviser to the European Commission in these fields.

Carol Harlow is Emeritus Professor of Law at the London School of Economics. She is an administrative lawyer with a special interest in comparative administrative law, who has written widely on accountability and citizen access to EU policy-making, including most recently, with Richard Rawlings, Process and Procedure in EU Administration (Hart Publishing 2014).
Eva G Heidbreder is Professor of Political Science with a special focus on European integration. She works as Visiting Professor at the Freie Universität Berlin, for which she is on leave from the Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf. Her research includes horizontal administrative coordination between EU member states, the European Commission and civil society participation in the EU.

Herwig CH Hofmann is Professor of European and Transnational Public Law in the Faculty of Law Economics and Finance at the University of Luxembourg. He is an author with Alexander Türk and Gerard Rowe of Administrative Law and Policy in the European Union (OUP 2011). He is co-founder and a coordinator of the Research Network on EU Administrative Law (ReNEUAL), and co-editor of the ReNEUAL Model Rules on EU Administrative Procedure (OUP 2017).

Christian Joerges is Professor of Law and Society at the Hertie School of Governance, Berlin, and Centre of European Law and Politics, University of Bremen. He has published widely in the fields of European and international economic law, risk regulation within the EU and in international trade relations.

Morten Kjaerum is Adjunct Professor, Director of the Raoul Wallenberg Institute for Human Rights and Humanitarian Law; and founding former Director of the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights.

Päivi Leino is Adjunct Professor of EU Law, University of Helsinki, and Academy of Finland Research Fellow. She has previously worked as a legal advisor for the Finnish Ministry of Justice, Ministry for Foreign Affairs, Ministry of Finance and Prime Minister’s Office, and represented them in various EU negotiations. She specializes in EU constitutional and institutional law, EU administrative law and EU external relations law.

Liisa Leppävirta is a doctoral candidate at the University of Helsinki where she teaches administrative law. She is working on a PhD thesis on access to documents in the EU. She previously worked at the Finnish Ministry of Justice and Prime Minister’s Office as an advisor and has some experience working in the European Commission.

Imelda Maher holds the inaugural Sutherland Chair of European Law at University College Dublin. She has worked extensively in competition law and on EU economic governance and has published widely in these areas.

Joana Mendes is Associate Professor of EU Law in the Faculty of Law of the University of Amsterdam and has been appointed Professor of Comparative Administrative Law at the University of Luxembourg. She is the author of Participation Rights in EU Rulemaking. A Rights-based Approach (OUP 2011).

Laura Muzi is a post-doctoral researcher in European Administrative Law at Tor Vergata University of Rome. She defended her PhD thesis at University of Rome La Sapienza in 2014. Her research interests include administrative adjudication, environmental law and public services but she has recently shifted her attention to EU administrative procedures and due process rights.

Nina Półtorak is Professor of European Law at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków. While Judge at the Regional Administrative Court, Kraków, she was seconded to the Supreme Administrative Court of the Republic of Poland (2014–16) and is now a Judge of the General Court of the CJEU.

Tapio Raunio is Professor of Political Science at the University of Tampere. His research focuses on legislatures and political parties, the Europeanization of domestic politics, semi-presidentialism and the Finnish political system, on which he has published widely.

Richard Rawlings is Professor of Public Law at University College London, Honorary Distinguished Professor at Cardiff University, and Leverhulme Major Research Fellow. He is a former Legal Adviser to the UK House of Lords Constitution Committee. He has a special interest in administrative procedure and administrative justice. Among his many publications he is joint author with Carol Harlow of Process and Procedure in EU Administration (Hart Publishing 2014).

Matthias Ruffert is Professor of Public Law and European Law, Humboldt-University Berlin. His research interests include European Constitutional Law, European and Comparative Administrative Law and Law of International Organisations. He is the editor of the Adjudication book of The Model Rules on EU Administrative Procedures (Europa Law Publishing 2016).

Jens-Peter Schneider is Professor of Public Law, European Information and Infrastructure Law at the University of Freiburg, Germany. He was co-founder of the Research Network on EU Administrative Law (ReNEUAL) in 2009, since when he has been one of the three ReNEUAL coordinators and leading member of the working groups on information exchange and single case decision-making. He is co-editor of the ReNEUAL Model Rules on EU Administrative Procedure (OUP forthcoming).
Colin Scott is Professor of EU Regulation and Governance and Principal, UCD College of Social Sciences and Law at University College Dublin.

Gabriel Toggenburg is Senior Legal Advisor at FRA and a Guest Professor at Graz University.

Maartje de Visser is Associate Professor of Law and Lee Kong Chian Fellow (2016) at the Singapore Management University. Her main areas of research are comparative constitutional law and regional integration, with a special interest in cross-border judicial relationships and networking. She is the author of Constitutional Review in Europe – A Comparative Analysis (Hart Publishing 2014).