

---

Figures

---

6.1	Word tree for ‘wrong’ generated by Nvivo based on reflective essays written by 44 students in a world regional geography course in fall 2017	81
6.2	Word tree for ‘made me think’ generated by Nvivo based on reflective essays written by 44 students in a world regional geography course in fall 2017	83
9.1	An interpretation of how mental models change using Pennington’s (2016) model of interdisciplinary research teamwork	115
16.1	Model for issues-based inquiry	215
16.2	Place-based model of effective inquiry pedagogy	217
18.1a	Design for an online pet memorial website	248
18.1b	Model for a physical memorial site ‘Letters to You’, where individuals remove a brick from the wall and place a message inside to the deceased	249
21.1	The multi-path entry into GIS first envisioned by Marble and redrawn by Di Biase et al. (2008)	285
21.2	The US Department of Labor Geospatial Technology Competency Model	286
23.1	Benefits of partnership working	318
30.1	Heatmaps for Melbourne Zoo for two time periods	420
30.2	Simulated spot bushfires from a student-devised computer game	424
32.1	Interdisciplinary geography diagram	450
32.2	Section of Esri Map Books that shows the application of geographic thinking to solve problems through GIS	453